

Our society

My Identity – being a sea cadet

We are going to watch a clip from a BBC programme, My identity – being a sea cadet, where a sea cadet Jacob tells us about how he and his friends celebrate Remembrance Sunday.

Task: as we watch, complete the cloze activity!

Jacob is a member of the ____ sea cadets. He is a leading ____ cadet. There are about ____ of them altogether. He is ____ to be a sea cadet, and finds it a lot of _____. As sea cadets, they take part in ____ activities.

Every year, they take part in the ____ Sunday event in their town. They pay their ____ and remember people who have fought and died in war. People wear a ____ on remembrance Sunday because they were the first flowers to grow on ____ Field, where many people fought and died in _____. On 11th ____ 1918, peace was declared and the war _____. People remember this by taking two minutes ____ on Remembrance Sunday.

On Remembrance Sunday, people put down ____ to honour people who have died, including those who have died in more recent wars like ____ and _____. It reminds us of the ____ men and women who have risked their lives for our country.

Poppy
Remembrance
Junior
Ended
Iraq
Sixteen
Bridgwater
Wreaths
Battle boat-related proud silence
November
Flanders
Respects
Fun
Brave
Afghanistan

Task: Why do you think it is important that we always remember the past?
